

Four Problem-Solvers From $7

tile scrubber, $10

PROBLEM: With all the tools and toxic solutions, tackling the slime on your bathroom tile's grout makes you feel like a Ghostbuster.

SOLUTION: With the SonicScrubber, grout comes miraculously clean, often with just plain water—no proton packs required.

TO BUY: www.sonicscrubber.com.

nylon undershirts, $36 to $44

PROBLEM: You covet your husband's sweat-catching, garment-saving tees—but not the bulk of the heavy cotton.

SOLUTION: Autepeau's form-hugging nylon and spandex camisoles, tanks, and T-shirts do the job but keep your profile sleek.

TO BUY: www.autepeau.com.

organic plant food, $7

PROBLEM: You worry about loading your plants (and soil) with chemicals.

SOLUTION: TerraCycle plant food is all organic (worm... worm castings) and comes in reused soda bottles. Plus, in Rutgers University tests, it worked better than the neon blue stuff.

TO BUY: www.home.depot.com.

bottled vodka cocktails, $15 for four

PROBLEM: Book-club night needs spicing up.

SOLUTION: Bring along a four-pack or two of Cocktails by Jenn, in flavors like Appletini and Cosmopolitan. You'll see the Great White Whale in a whole new (perhaps hazy) light.

TO BUY: www.cocktailsbyjenn.com for stores.

